Not your average law firm

Here at Wosskow Brown, we are that rare gem among solicitors - a long-established firm with a young, keen eye on the fast-moving needs of businesses and individuals.

We're bound together by our love of sports, especially speedway. We have history of sponsorship for both teams and individual riders and we're keen to continue our support for the sport through the very worthy cause of the Speedway Riders Benevolent Fund.

We're constantly updating the services we offer to reflect what's happening in the world outside our door, from changes to family law to the latest developments in employment law.

We recognise that many people only use a solicitor when they really need to, usually during stressful times and life changing events. We are confident that our staff can offer the best advice and understanding. Of course at some point in their lives, most of them will have experienced the very same situation that you are faced with now.

Help us support the Speedway Riders Benevolent Fund

We can all do our bit to support the Speedway Riders Benevolent Fund.

We are offering substantial discounts to anyone willing to leave a gift in their Will to the Speedway Riders Benevolent Fund.

Wills, Probate & Estate Planning

When a person dies, someone has to deal with what they have left behind; their estate. These people are known as personal representatives. They will need to deal with many issues, such as collecting monies owed, selling or transferring property and assets, dealing with possessions, paying all debts and distributing the remainder of the estate to the beneficiaries.

The legal requirements and responsibilities following a death are complex and can be daunting at what is already a difficult time. Our experienced lawyers can deal sensitively with these matters and find the best solution for you.

Why Make A Will?

Understandably, people often don't want to think about making a Will or planning for when they die, but by doing so, family and friends will know how they want their last wishes to be administered, helping to alleviate the stress experienced after their death.

Writing a Will is especially important if you have children or financially dependent family, or if you want to leave something to friends, extended family or a gift to an organisation.

Writing your own Will at home is a risky approach. You may end up leaving your loved ones with a major headache if you do not seek professional advice. We will draft your Will to the highest professional standards, so you know the document is completely watertight and binding.
